PA NEW OBSERVES

Firemen had lots of help from the volunteers in the fire in Market way last evening, a group of them having gathered at the fire station after visiting the home of one of their departed members, and they were soon on the job, helping their paid brethren extinguish the blaze.

Sunday was an ideal day, and was enjoyed by the populace in various ways. It was the first really nice Sunday that we have had this spring, and the golfers were out in large numbers taking advantage of the occasion.

The little red detour marks are beginning to spot up the Detour Bulletin, issued by the State Highway Department, but only one new detour is noted in the immediate vicinity. It is west of Beaver Falls on Route 51. The detour is six miles in length, 5.7 of which is paved. There is also a detour at Mechanicsburg in Beaver county, west of Ambridge, and one between Carnot and Sewickley bridge in Allegheny county.

Pa. News is informed that New Castle sent quite a delegation to New Wilmington early Easter morning to hear the new chimes which have been placed in the college tower, peal out Easter music.

Weather Aids Easter Style Parade Here

There wasn't a tear in a car load of gals Sunday. For once in their lives the Weather Man gave them what they asked for, sunny weather, and they responded like the flowers that bloom in the spring. Garbed in every shade of the spectrum, ever saw and a few it hasn't yet got around to, the sweet young things paraded Washington street in the afternoon and the main stem looked like a fashion show.

Hotcha colors seemed to be the motif if you get what we mean and we mean they were hotcha. Colors that reflected the sun for a couple of blocks, colors that welcomed you with a cheery hello and colors that nearly sprained an ear drum. All sorts of colors and all sorts of girls, and four out of five had them, corsages we mean.

Some of the gowns looked suspiciously like something Claudette Colbert or Norma Shearer or Joan Crawford wore in some of their recent pictures. Others were tailored down to a prim, business looking sort of outfit, and still others looked

Greatest Easter Parade In New York Since 1929

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 22.—The army of the fashionable was demobilized today after the grandest Easter parade along Fifth avenue since the gay days of 1929.

One hundred thousand strong, it was probably the largest Easter throng in the history of Fifth avenue.

Under balmy skies, they trudged nobly on each other's heels. Most came to sport their new habits in the sunshine. They looked at each other and themselves and found things good.

There were others who came to join in marching mob like true New Yorkers. And there was the flow of those who had attended services in St. Thomas', St. Patrick's and other fashionable churches.

There were also trench raids along the line of march by groups of unemployed. But police cut out the invaders and the show went on.

Stubborn Fire Occurs Sunday

Six Departments Called To Fight Blaze In Rear Of Sherman Hotel Last Evening

FIRE STARTS IN PLUMBING SHOP

Six departments were called into action at 8:30 last evening to fight a fire which started in the cellar of the R. J. Hanna plumbing shop, 126 Market Way, in the rear of the Sherman Hotel, 22 South Mill street. Damage approximating $4,000 was done by the fire, which threatened to sweep through the Hotel Annex, and the guests housed there fled on short notice. The building is a two story brick structure.

Smoke In Building
When firemen were first called by a telephone alarm, it was reported that smoke was smelled by the hotel tenants, who live in the Annex. Assistant Fire Chief James E. Thomas went to the scene from Central station, only a few blocks away, and when he arrived, there was considerable smoke rolling out of the cellar underneath the plumbing shop. Two alarms were sent in from box 28 summoning all the fire-fighting equipment in the city (Continued On Page Two)

Mae West Marriage Report Mystifies

Broadway Is Interested In Report Mae Was Married In 1911

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 22.—Broadway was frankly mystified today by the news from Milwaukee that relief workers had discovered among dusty archives a certificate purporting to show the marriage of Mae West and her stage partner, Frank Wallace, on April 11, 1911.

Most of the Broadway old-timers knew a Frank Wallace, who used to be a vaudeville song and dance man, but few of them were able to connect him with the early career of the famous blonde siren of the screen.

Wallace could not be located today. Several of his friends recalled, however, that he had played a minor part in Mae's sensational stage success, "Diamond Lil," and a checkup in newspaper morgues confirmed this.

Hollywood, April 22.—"I've never heard of the fellow I'm supposed to have married and I never was in Milwaukee until four years ago." That was the comment of Mae West today on Milwaukee reports that a Mae West, then 18, had in 1911, married Frank Wallace, 21, Brooklyn, N. Y., actor. Denials also came from James A. Finony, the actress' manager.

Long Back In Washington Prepared To Reply To Detractors

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 22.—Without naming names, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes vigorously assailed critics of the administration today in a speech which alluded to the preachings of Father Coughlin, the teachings of Senator Huey Long, and the "visionary dreams" of Dr. Francis Townsend, the $200-a-month pension advocate.

To his criticism, however, Ickes coupled a plea for even greater freedom of the press, freedom of speech and freedom of assembly, although violently disagreeing with "the three musketeers." Ickes said even if he were clothed with despotic power he would "not crack a finger" to abridge their right to express their views, spoke before the annual meeting of the Associated Press.

Beliefs Obnoxious.
Declaring that "certain beliefs are obnoxious to me," Ickes said: "I despise the demagogue who hurls his voice through the pure air to advocate false doctrines, the acceptance of which by a majority of the people would destroy this America that I love. I have nothing but contempt for the man of crooked intellect, who deliberately sets out to fool the under-privileged wage, during the last few years, have been having an especially tragic time of it, by holding out to them the hope that as a result of some fantastic 'share the wealth' scheme every man, woman and child is to have thrust into his hands the sum of $5,000, which (Continued On Page Two)

Huge Crowds At Church Services

Easter Services Attended By Immense Audiences On Sunday

WEATHER AIDS IN RECORD TURN-OUTS

In spite of gloomy predictions Easter Sunday turned out to be one of the brightest New Castle has ever had, and thousands of men, women and children wound their ways to Sunday school, worship and vesper services in the churches. With the sun beaming happily down, and his press agent, the Weather Man, behind his shoulder, grinning boyishly over the joke he had played, the Easter parade started with the dawn and the crowds were going to and from church all day long. A wide variety of Easter programs were offered, including sunrise services, oratorios, the shorter cantatas, and children's presentations. Probably never before have the churches accommodated such large Easter crowds.

Thousands Roll Easter Eggs On White House Lawn

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 22.—President Roosevelt today broke his White House routine to watch thousands of Washington children roll Easter eggs on the White House lawn. Even Col. Louis McHenry Howe, the president's secretary, seriously ill for weeks, could not resist the attraction and had his bed moved near the window so he could get a brief glimpse of the Easter Monday spectacle which has been a tradition at the White House for decades. Annually the White House grounds are thrown open and every child accompanied by as many adults as the child can claim as relatives, is permitted unlimited use of the sweeping lawns to roll his Easter eggs. White and black alike enjoy this privilege.

TAIPEI, FORMOSA, April 22.—An Army carrier pigeons winging over two earthquake-devastated provinces today brought to Governor General Kenji Nakagawa word that yesterday's earthquakes had taken a toll of more than 3,000 dead and 7,000 injured.

While slight shocks continued to rock the Japanese-owned island, Governor Nakagawa conveyed the extent of the disaster to Edwared Maney, the American consul.

"The number of casualties is higher than the governor had anticipated," Maney told International News Service.

"The death list is rising as isolated villages slowly report their losses. Accurate details are hard to obtain because railway lines are wrecked and telephone wires down."

American and other foreign residents are safe, so far as could be ascertained, Maney said. With at least 12,000 houses destroyed and as many more badly damaged, more than 100,000 persons, practically all Chinese, were homeless, and spent a sleepless (Continued On Page Two)

(Special To The News)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 22.—That Europe is funny, the leader of one country, maby Hitler, maby Mussolini, will say something, then all the others will run together and hold a conference. "What did he say, do you think he meant it, do you think he will fight or is he bluffing."

Then they all go home again, and then in a couple of days somebody else will make a statement, then the huddle starts all over again. Of course before each gathering adjourns, it's understood and goes on the minutes of the meeting automatically, that we (the U. Governor And Senators To Resume Conferences On Relief And Taxation

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 22.—Still about $24,000,000 apart on revenue raising plans for the next two years, Gov. George H. Earle and the Republican majority in the senate today were expected to resume conferences this week in an effort to end the twin deadlock over relief and taxation.

Republican senators were to caucus before the legislature begins the 17th week of the session tonight to discuss a new proposal that the motor fund be tapped to provide a substantial share of relief funds for the future.

Governor Earle in his $205,000,000 budget set aside $120,000,000 for relief for two years while the Republican senators in their substitute $111,500,000 budget provided $57,000,000. At the first compromise conference the governor said he was willing to accept $60,000,000 for a one year period. The new Republican proposal brought out over the week-end was to boost the original offer to $80,000 by drawing $33,000,000 from the motor fund.

Crisis Temporarily Alleviated.
With the relief crisis temporarily alleviated until the middle of next month by the governor's acceptance of a Republican plan to transfer $5,000,000 from the motor fund.

Half Million in Easter Pageant At Atlantic City

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 22.—The greatest pageant in the annals of the far-famed Easter Sunday parade on the boardwalk here was hailed today by officials and business men as a forerunner of 1935 prosperity for this resort.

Hard hit in the early days of the depression, the "Big Ground of the World" has found the Easter parade an excellent barometer of the coming summer's business. For three consecutive years now, the pageant has been increasing and yesterday's 500,000 participants, termed a conservative estimate, was the cause of optimism.

Jams on the boardwalk were frequent and roller chairs were at a standstill as often as they were moving. The influx of visitors was so great that the resort—a city of hotels—was forced to turn many away. Similar crowds were reported at virtually every resort along the southern New Jersey coast.

Procedure Plan Is Perplexing As Germany Answered Nations Separately

LEAGUE TAKES UP MEMEL COMPLAINT

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 22.—Nations league today made an important move in favor of the Reich when Britain, France, and Italy dispatched "strong representations" to Lithuania over the situation in Memel, formerly German territory.

The western powers, referring to the Reich's charges that Lithuania discriminated against the German minority in Memel, suggested that the territorial directorate, which governs Memel, be made more representative of the political and national makeup of the elected Memel chamber.

The Lithuanian government is understood to have held its ground, replying that Germany had been invited to join the directorate, but the Nazis had prevented this step and a deadlock resulted.

Memel, taken from Germany to provide Lithuania with a port on the Baltic, is meant to be practice of self-governance, but Germany alleges that Lithuania has set up a practical dictatorship.

Consider Reply to Hitler
The Allies' action on Memel came just when they and ten other members of the League of Nations council were studying Chancellor Hitler's terse communication of Saturday, in which Germany "challenged the right" of the council members "to set themselves up as judges" of Germany's rearmament.

Consultation through diplomatic channels among leading members of the council is expected to take place before any decision is taken regarding a point of procedure is involved, since Hitler sent his note to the representatives of the thirteen nations individually, instead of to the league as an entity.

Some quarters in London feel that it would be a tactical error to make a formal reply, fearing that it would add fuel to the controversy and delay private negotiations by which Germany might be brought back into the league, which is still the hope of the British government.

Hitler's statement that Germany would "make known soon the attitude it will adopt" on the Geneva criticism may have left the way open for further negotiations on general security, many quarters believed.

except the Seventh ward department. Fire Chief Stockman also went to the scene on the second alarm.

The fire was hard to fight because of the fact that the Hotel Annex is broken up into a number of small storerooms, along Market Way, and the blaze got in between the partitions in the rear of the rooms at 124 and 128 Market Way, and also worked its way between the partitions into a bathroom in the hotel rooms above, where it was checked just as it started to spread under the roof.

Do Efficient Work

Firemen did an efficient job in checking the fire and fought the blaze under great difficulty because of the dense smoke. Several of the firemen were temporarily overcome by smoke, but remained on the job.

The great part of the loss was confined to the plumbing shop, but there was a small amount of damage to the one room in the Hotel Annex, and in the rear of the National East Products store at 124 Market Way. The room at 124 Market Way was formerly occupied by a pool room, but has not been used for several years. Although the tables are still in the room.

Smoke also did some damage to Keefe's restaurant at 26 South Mill street, adjoining the hotel building. The entire loss is covered by insurance, it is stated.

The blaze occurred just before the evening church services were out, and a large crowd gathered at the scene while the fire was being fought.

After the fire had been extinguished, Fireman Harry Mally, of Central Department, collapsed from the effects of the smoke and was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital. His condition was much improved, it was stated this morning.

Industrial Leaders Against Sharon-Parrell-Sharpsville Merger

(International News Service)
SHARON, Pa., April 22.—Determined to block the efforts being made to consolidate the municipalities of Sharon and Parrell, a group of industrial leaders of the latter place were to carry their battle to Harrisburg today.

The consolidation plan, proposed as a means of improving the Shenango valley's industrial condition, has aroused considerable opposition here. Citizens planned to join business leaders in the Harrisburg trip to obtain an amendment to the act of 1906, which permits a city to annex an adjoining municipality.

April 29 has been set as the date for a hearing on a petition presented by residents of Parrell for a special election on the merger program.

like what the well dressed young filly will be wearing next summer. It was a pleasant scene now the soever. There were more girls on Washington street between two and five than in a few cases they were accompanied by the male of the species, but not often. On Easter Sunday a man is as useless as a bird on a wild turkey, for who gives a girl a second look if the boy friend is with her? It was a great Easter. Everybody got a break. The business houses did so much business that they thought the corner had been turned and prosperity was right in their laps. At 10 o'clock you couldn't find enough candy eggs to fill a peck basket, and the florists looked as though someone had moved their stock out. The season set a new high in flower buying, at least in the past five years. Everybody seemed satisfied, the girls got a chance to show off their clothes, and in passing may we say that some of the boys had on new suits also? But who cares?

Cabinet Studying Textile Industry

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 22.—Four cabinet members today were preparing an earnest study of the nation's textile industry ordered by President Roosevelt.

Representing a special committee to seek a solution not only for emergency conditions in the textile industry but a planned economy for the future, The cabinet members were Secretaries Hull, Wallace, Roper and Perkins, representing the state, Agriculture, commerce and labor departments respectively.

President Roosevelt hinted that federal loans to cotton mills to replace obsolete plants and machinery with modern equipment may be one of the results of the study.

Four Phases
The problems to which the president directed the cabinet committee to give special attention were divided by him into four phases as follows:

1. Relation to the processing taxes to the present situation, with recommendations whether a substitute method of taxes can be levied with less disturbance to the industry.

2. Wage differentials between northern and southern mills.

3. Cotton cloth imports and their possible injurious effect on American industry. This concerns chiefly Japanese competition.

4. The prevailing price of raw cotton, pegged by government loans, with the effect on domestic consumption.

The second half of the study will involve the possibility of a long-range plan to stabilize the textile business.

DEATH LIST IN FORMOSA QUAKE IS INCREASING

night of terror in a driving rain in the open.

Relief work was speedily organized, with the Red Cross dispatching parties from Taiku and Taichu, the larger towns of the stricken district, and the army battalion at Taichu sending 50 relief parties to set up field dressing stations.

Lack of medical supplies, coupled with the minor recurrent shocks, added to the agonizing conditions of the natives huddled in the woods and on mountain sides.

First Shock, 6:02 a. m. Sunday, caught most of the natives sleeping in their huts of sun-dried dirt bricks, easily shaken down by the quake. A second tremor followed at 6:26, completing the destruction wrought by the first.

In the cities, where the houses were chiefly constructed of wood or stone, there was less damage from the tremors themselves, but fires through the tinderlike houses and increasing the death toll.

Whole villages of huts and frame houses were wiped out. Railway tunnels caved in, landslides buried tracks, and bridges collapsed. It will be some days before telegraphs and telephones are operating again, officials said.

Electric power plants were destroyed, a major oil pipe line burst, gas mains were broken, adding darkness and further fire peril to the woes of the residents in larger towns.

Resident Scenes
Eye-witnesses who made their way into the capital brought poignant tales of weeping children running through the streets looking for their lost parents; of relatives digging in the debris for bodies, and of a shortage of coffins, making it necessary for the natives to use huge empty beer cases for caskets.

It was estimated that government buildings, schools, and business houses alone involved losses of 10,000,000 yen ($2,500,000).

No damage was reported to sugar refineries, and this year's sugar crop has already been refined and stored or shipped abroad.

Consul Maney, who has been here only two weeks, said the American consulate also escaped damage.

8,000,000 Yen of Japan order for relief and reconstruction, and the Formosa government immediately appropriated an additional 10,000,000 yen.

British warships stationed at Hong Kong, were preparing to go to the assistance of the islanders if need be.

The eighth air regiment, operating from its military base, started a survey of the devastated area. The third destroyer Flotilla on its way with food, blankets, and first aid supplies.

This is Formosa's second major earthquake disaster in thirty years. In 1906 1,228 were killed.

Chinese Inhabitants
Taichu, Formosa, April 22.—When Portuguese explorers landed here centuries ago, they renamed this island of Taiwan "Formosa," "beautiful." Today a large area of the Japanese-owned island is covered with death and desolation, but its semi-tropical beauty and vast resources remain untouched.

Annexed by Japan in 1895, the former Chinese possession has 92 per cent Chinese among its nearly 5,000,000 population. The remainder are mostly Japanese and Formosan aborigines. There are few Europeans here and the island attracts few tourists.

A low mountain range runs the length of the heavy-forested island. Paddy rice, camphor, minerals, and lumber are its chief products.

Formosa lies in the earthquake belt that runs the length of the China coast, including the islands of Japan Proper. An earthquake in 1906 killed 1,228.

The Tropic of Cancer bisects the island, which is mainly reached by small coastal vessels from Hong Kong. A Japanese governor-general heads the government.

weather for New Castle. Instead of showers, New Castle and Lawrence county experienced a perfect Easter day.

Pre-Easter business and traffic down-town on Saturday night were exceptionally heavy, more so than for some years.

Standing around the fire in Market way last night in new Easter kets wasn't such a good idea, many spectators found. The dense smoke that came out of the building for a time was swept near the ground at times and left a smoke odor on clothing.

New Castle and Lawrence county churches on Easter Sunday is reported greater than for some years past. Probably the excellent weather was an aid to bringing out an increased attendance.

Easter day in the Jameson Memorial hospital was made a little brighter on Sunday through the courtesy of Mrs. Edward Shields, 714 Blaine street, representing the Highland W. C. T. U. Mrs. Shields took the time to go through the rooms and wards of the hospital distributing Easter favors, and her work was appreciated not alone by the patients, but by the hospital staff.

Friends in New Castle of General J. L. Myland of Los Angeles, Cal., a former prominent resident, will regret to learn that he is quite ill with a heart ailment and diabetes. He is being cared for by a nurse in a local hospital. He writes that he still eagerly anticipates the arrival of The New Castle News, enjoying it more than his eats.

Parachute Jumper Suffers Injury

Captain R. E. Garrison, Well Known In Jump Sunday
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 22.—Capt. R. E. Garrison, record-breaking parachute jumper, today could blame a high wind for injuries received in his first exhibition leap of the year.

Determined that the "show must go on" rather than let weather conditions disappoint a huge crowd at Bettis field, Garrison "bailed out" successfully from 8,000 feet. But the "show" didn't end when the jumper's feet touched the ground. He was knocked unconscious and dragged 200 feet by the high breeze.

New Castle flying enthusiasts will recall having seen Captain Garrison make a number of successful parachute leaps over the New Castle airport near Parkstown, last year and in previous years.

Apples, grapes, oranges, blackberries, pineapples, watermelons, peaches, figs and mayhaws, will all make satisfactory vinegar.

Man Is Killed, Seven Wounded In Mining Riot

Officials Take Steps To Quell Illinois Mine Warfare After Three Years
(International News Service)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 22.—Authorities today took steps to quell a renewal of the mine warfare which has left a three-year record of bombings, killings, riots and dynamiting of coal trains following a flareup here yesterday in which one man was killed and seven wounded.

Edris Mabie, 48, a founder of the progressive union, was killed when six men, believed by police to be members of the United Mine Workers union, fired pistols into a group of progressives leaving a meeting on a downtown street.

MISS EDYTH L. CLARK BRIDE OF ED. REBMANN

The wedding of Miss Edyth L. Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clark, Huron avenue, this city, and Ed M. Rebmann of Pittsburgh and New Castle, quietly celebrated Saturday evening, April 20, was an event of interest to many due to the popularity of the principals. The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the First Congregational church, with the Rev. Rees T. Williams, pastor, officiating with the impressive ring service in the presence of their families and a few close friends.

The bride chose for her wedding ensemble the newest note fashion of the season, and, contrary to the traditional white, she wore a black and white tulle dress. The dress was fashioned on Princess lines, with puff sleeves, and the same feature also distinguished the knee length coat with pin-back effect, which completed her outfit. Her accessories were carried out in the same motif, and her shoulder corsage was made up of white gardenias.

Miss Virginia Kissick, Butz street, as maid of honor and the bride's only attendant, selected a chic form-fitting tulle dress, patterned on the same lines. She wore a sand-brown coat, of knee length, with matching accessories, and her shoulder bouquet was a cluster of orchids.

Merle Ross of North Crawford avenue served the groom as best man.

Immediately following the exchange of vows, the couple left on a motor trip, their destination being unrevealed. Upon their return they will take up residence in this city.

The bride was graduated from the local high school with the class of '30 and she is affiliated with the Eckerd Drug company. The groom attended South Hills high of Pittsburgh and holds a responsible position with the American Sheet & Tin Plate company.

Mrs. Ralph Mirable of Pittsburgh, a sister of the bride, was an out of town guest.

Blind Committee
There will be a meeting of the blind committee of the Federation of Women's club Wednesday afternoon at 2, in the home of Mrs. Roy F. Conway, on North Mercer street.

The meeting will be an important one as it will be the concluding one of the season and reports of the towels and other projects will be submitted at this time.

LITTLE TOTS PARTY HONORS BIRTHDAY

Little tots ranging from one to six years, dressed in their "Sunday best", including many Shirley Temple frocks, romped and played at the home of Muriel VanDyke on Meyer avenue Saturday afternoon from 2 until 4:30 o'clock, the occasion being given by her mother, Mrs. Catherine VanDyke, in celebration of her second birthday anniversary which falls due on April 24. Miss Muriel Edmunds, for whom the honored one was named, assisted in entertaining the kiddies.

Sixteen youngsters, as they entered the front door, were each given a dainty miniature Easter basket, containing a little chick surrounded by a nest of vari-colored eggs, which pleased. A program of games and appealing contests followed.

A special feature that caused much excitement was the appearance of a huge live "Peter Rabbit", in the person of little Virginia Russell, garbed in a snowy white rabbit's suit, with long ears, wheeling Muriel's doll buggy into the room. This was filled with tiny rabbits, each bearing the name of one of the guests, which were distributed at an appropriate time.

A dainty menu of refreshments, also carried out in seasonal tones, was served at a suitable hour, bringing the afternoon to a close.

An array of pretty gifts were left for Muriel in remembrance of a most enjoyable party given in her honor.

Party At Class Home
A surprise party of Friday, April 19, that proved unusually enjoyable, was that given in honor of Dick Davis, Harrison street, at the home of Mrs. Elmer Glass, also of Harrison street. The occasion was in the form of a surprise, and was perfectly planned.

An informal program of amusements, featured the leisure hours, and at the time selected, a delicious holiday menu of refreshments was served. Yellow and green, colors so appropriate to the Easter festivities, prevailed in all appointments. A large birthday cake graced the center and novelty Easter favors marked places for twenty girls and boys, in honor of the honored one, Mrs. Elmer Glass and Mrs. I. Davis served.

Dick was presented with a number of handsome gifts in remembrance of the day.

SLOWER GROWTH

THERE comes a time in the life of every country when its population becomes stationary, and a study of population statistics gathered by the census bureau during the last three decades indicates that the United States is approaching that point.

An analysis made by life insurance company experts fixes the time at 1970 and the nation's population at that time at 170,000,000, which is nearly 50 per cent greater than the present population. This is predicated on the nation's birth rate, which has been steadily declining, and also on the assumption that the national government will never again let down the immigration bars.

History shows that once the population of a country ceases to grow it remains stationary for about half a century and then begins slowly to decline. This is something every land expects and usually finds desirable.

It is well that this matter of future population be kept in mind, for it will govern the country's economic and industrial expansion. There must be no building for a population and consumption which will never be realized, for that was one of the things which brought on the depression.

America owes her wealth and progress, and did owe her prosperity, to her rapid growth in population. Will she enjoy health, wealth, prosperity and progress when her population becomes stationary?

STILL PAYING

If you ever have doubted that wars are almost unimaginably expensive, consider this fact; today, seventy full years after the close of the Civil War the federal government is still paying out $5,000,000 a month to settle the cost of that conflict.

Seventy years add up to a long long time. Since the last shot was fired in the war between the states, children have been born, grown to old age and died—and all that while the nation's purse has been steadily and heavily drained to pay the bills.

It is appalling to reflect on the length of time war costs can hang on. Out grandfathers fought that war; we're still paying for it.

THANK YOUR DENTIST

The hardy cave dweller of old never had modern delicacies like cake, creamed chicken, and ice cream. He gnawed his meat off the bone and ate unhusked grain—and, according to some modern theorists, because of that fact he had healthy teeth.

However, Dr. E. B. Renaud, professor of anthropology at Denver University, has been looking at the skulls of ancient cliff dwellers in Mesa Verde National Park, and he finds evidence to the contrary. These old-timers, who lived on coarse, tough foods all their lives, had cavities in plenty, suffered from toothache just as we do, and also had pyorrhea.

And one must shudder painfully to think of having toothache in a land where the only possible remedy was to summon a neighbor and have him knock the decayed tooth out of your head with a pointed stone!

SKY'S THE LIMIT FOR IKES

Nobody in his right mind would deny Secretary Ickes' generosity that money spent to maintain the morale of the people is not wasted. There may be, however, an honest difference of opinion as to what constitutes effective morale-preserving expenditures. Federal waterpower projects may furnish employment to some, but if they make others jobless by ruining private enterprise, where is the gain in morale?

Surely Mr. Ickes' contention that "the real difficulty is that not enough money has gone into the Federal PWA program" can not be calmly accepted. Presumably the administrator even looks upon the new five-billion-dollar works-relief fund as inadequate. If Mr. Ickes' spending spree had measurably reduced the total of the country's unemployed, if it had appeared to make a dent in the depression, his words might carry conviction. As it is, they only make more apparent the utter futility, the complete hopelessness of the policy of recovery, by spending—Philadelphia Inquirer.

LAUGHING AT DANGER

That man is adventuresome, daring and courageous being witness him as he runs the gamut of daily life. It is a trait that comes to him naturally instinctively. He needs no provocation to urge him to deeds of daring nor can he be deterred by the cautious fears of the timid members of the species.

It is known that all animals experience the sensation of fear and that all fear is based on a premonition of bodily harm or death, but, although this sensation is strongest in man, man is most prone to court it. In spite of thousands of fatalities annually man, women and children daily climb perilous crags, tempt the deeps in flimsy craft, take to the air, participate in dangerous sports, speed in automobiles and otherwise disport themselves as though they would laugh at death.

We know that man loves life and fears death. We also know that he momentarily tosses the dice with the grim reaper and thinks nothing of the experience. The only explanation for this seeming paradox is the fact that the spark of eternal hope is stronger in the human mind than either his fear of death or his love of the risk that thrills.

We know some fellows who are in danger of getting slant-shouldered leaning on the government.

If you haven't money enough to be a capitalist or skill enough to be a worker, how'd you like to be an economist?

Farmers in the dust storm area who have in the past been troubled by an urge to travel might begin by following their farms.

If Dame Nature really wants to do something for us why doesn't she arrange for a gold-dust storm to come out of the West?

The one thing that has been settled definitely since March, 1933, is the status of Dolly Gann, who seems to have been lost in the shuffle.

A man always knows he has become a leading citizen of the town when he is asked to act as one of the judges in a high school oratorical contest.

The consumption of soap is reported to be increasing in Russia and by the time two or three more five-year plans have been completed it will probably catch up to the actual needs of the country.

I'D LIKE TO KNOW, TOO

A MAN SAID to me: "I'd like to know why a friend sometimes treats you as he wouldn't think of treating a casual acquaintance."

"The other day I had an appointment with a friend on a certain corner, at a certain hour. I was there at the time, but he wasn't. I waited and waited, wondering what had happened to him. And when he finally appeared about 25 minutes late, he casually mentioned that an acquaintance had come in just as he was about to leave his office and he stopped to talk with him. Now I don't think I'm so awfully important, but I think a friendship is, and why should my friend have left me out on a limb while he was talking to a mere acquaintance?"

"And this isn't the first time that sort of thing has happened. I'm against it, but I'll bet I've done it myself. If you happen to write anything about this, don't use my name because if you do some friend is sure to come around and remind me of the time I stood him up. . . . But I never mean to do it, and I figure it's one of the worst things you can do to a friend."

"It happens in families, too. Wives treat husbands that way, and husbands treat wives as if there were nothing between them but a purely formal acquaintance. Because they love each other, they think that's enough and they don't even trouble to act like friends."

"Don't get me wrong. I'm not arguing in favor of rudeness toward acquaintances. But do think that if there's any choice between people you merely know and those you love you ought to resolve the difference in favor of those you like best. You don't need to lean over backwards and be nice to a guy you don't care a whoop about and say to yourself 'Jim don't mind, or 'Jane will understand. Maybe they WILL understand, but you can't blame them for being annoyed. What do you think?' I think," said I, "that you've said everything."

FATALISTIC PROBIAS ARE BETTER FORGOTTEN

It is strange to contemplate how many human beings live in fear of something.

Strong, robust, apparently healthy fellows often fear they may be attacked by the disease which usually affects the weak and anemic.

Others believe they would be sure to have a mishap if they were to ride in an airplane.

These same people do not enjoy a train ride because of the conviction that they are doomed to meet death in a wreck.

Others are uneasy everytime they ride in an automobile driven by anyone but themselves.

Still others dread death by drowning.

People of this type are so sure of their fates that they frequently talk of their fears.

Their minds are seldom free from thoughts of what may befall them. Isn't it silly for any man to allow himself to be convinced that he is doomed to meet death in some certain way?

Perhaps you are one of these persons with a "fatality" complex. Shake yourself out of it. You won't die till your time comes and then nothing can prevent it.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer.

SOME U. S. POLICIES

Hillsville, Pa., April 19, 1935.

Editor News:
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:

I do not agree with Dr. Tugwell in his statement "The people are too damn dumb to understand the finer things of life" commended upon in a letter to The News from E. M. Underwood, April 17, 1935. The only way one can understand anything is to have an experience or a awareness of that thing, be it the finer things of life or just electric lights.

Mr. Tugwell gives us a chance to understand the finer things of life, then judge.

E. M. Underwood mentioned Dr. Tugwell's chief contribution to the science of farming as he has observed, namely the killing of hogs and destruction of the farmers growing crops. I wonder if it has ever occurred to many interested citizens just how difficult it is to get things done, the way they are originally planned in our governmental set-up. For instance, a legislator has an idea he has worked on to solve a government problem. This idea is presented to Congress in the regular routine of a bill. Before long the original idea is so butchered up, taken from and added to that its maker hardly recognizes it. Often the changes are made just to get some ambitious legislation finger in the pie so as to have something to write home about.

I'm in no position to say what happened to the Department of Agriculture plans but it doesn't seem reasonable that their plans included, with the destroying program the practice, exercised by our business firms, of buying cheap pork, wheat, cotton, etc., from other countries. This is one big monkey-wrench in the cogs. If our business houses choose to buy from other lands they should pay for the crops destroyed to make prices higher in the hopes that the farmer might get some of the raise.

The American farmer continues to exercise the old pioneering spirit of "cutting down his own trees." I am

FUTURE WEATHER TOLD BY ONIONS

Charles F. Rankey, retired farmer of Westerville, Ohio, knows his onions—and thereby lies his uncanny ability for forecasting weather a year in advance.

Rankey's formula is: "I take an onion—three inches across—peel out 12 of the cups and get them in a row east to west. Then place a teaspoonful of salt in each cup at midnight, New Year's eve, allowing them to lie undisturbed for 12 hours, each hour representing a month."

"When noon comes around the condition of the onion cups indicates the type of weather we will have throughout the year, each cup representing a month."

"A dry cup forecasts a dry month. A damp cup crusting the salt a month of moderate rainfall, and one in which water gathers reveals a heavy rainfall."

STILL AN AUTHORITY

The dictionary continues to be the authority on pronunciation but it apparently is not so regarded at all times by radio announcers and motion picture stars.

Blatant mispronunciations of even words in common usage are not infrequent over the air lanes and through the reproduction horns of the audible films. Directors of films might well impress on their own minds and their players the great value to cultured English to be gained by constant association with a good dictionary.

Radio announcers, national as well as local, err more consistently in faulty pronunciations than screen players. In their effort for mellifluous pitch and round delivery, these laborers at the microphone, who earn their bread in the sound of their voice, quite often get off key with a flat deviation from the canons of good pronunciations.

The audible films and the radio are in a key position to spread knowledge of well-spoken English. The use of the dictionary is essential to this art. Directors of programs might well instill this idea in the minds of radio announcers and cinema players who are enacting roles presupposing a knowledge of the tongue in the characters portrayed.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

The latest story going the rounds of the orange drink stands on Broadway deals with a music publisher who recently was offered a song called "If Mother Had A Radio In Heaven." Two lines of the chorus ran:

To which the music publisher objected.

Letters often go astray because of our habit of abbreviating the states and their similarity in abbreviations, as, for example, "Md." and "Mo." and "Me." and "Penn." and "Tenn." and "Cal." and "Col." If we should stop abbreviations our letters would be sure of quicker delivery.

Henry George's Ideas.

Central Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, April 22.—Many persons have commented on the recent analysis in this column of Henry George's single tax theories of getting out of a depression.

In fact, that analysis seems to have been the most popular subject this column ever has contained.

Some persons have requested an amplification or a further explanation.

Henry George, whose economic works of more than half a century ago have become classics, suggested that all taxation be abolished except that on land values.

"Neither on the ground of equity or expediency is there anything to deter us from making land common property by taking rent into the public treasury," Henry George said.

"Let the individuals who now hold land still retain possession of what they are pleased to call THEIR land, but let them continue to call it THEIR land. Let them buy and sell, and bequeath and devise it."

"It is not necessary to abolish land ownership; it is only necessary to take rent for public uses."

"In form, the ownership of land would remain just as now. No owner of land need be dispossessed, and no restriction need be placed upon the amount of land any one could hold. For rent being taken by the state in taxes, land, no matter in whose name it stood, or in what parcels it was held, would be really common property, and every member of the community would participate in the advantages of ownership."

"As we have seen, the value of land is at the beginning of society nothing. But as society develops by the increase of population and the advance of the arts, the value of the land becomes greater and greater."

"Whenever the idea of concentrating all taxation upon the value of land is suggested, it invariably makes way, but there are few of the classes most to be benefited by it, who at first, or even for a long time afterward, see its full significance and power."

"It is difficult for workmen to get over the idea that there is a real antagonism between capital and labor. It is difficult for small farmers and homestead owners to get over the idea that to put all taxes on the value of land would be unduly to tax them. It is difficult for both classes to get over the idea that to exempt capital from taxation would be to make the rich richer, and the poor poorer."

"A great wrong always dies hard. And the great wrong, which in every civilized country condemns the masses of men to poverty and want, will not die without a bitter struggle."

HOW TAXATION WORKS
Concerning the various forms of taxation, Henry George said:

"The great class of taxes from which revenue may be derived without interference with production are taxes upon monopolies—for the profit of monopoly is in itself a tax levied upon production, and to tax it is simply to divert into the public coffers what production must in any event pay."

"All other monopolies are trivial in extent as compared with the monopoly of land. And the value of land expressing a monopoly, is in every respect fitted for taxation."

"The value of land, or economic rent, is in no part made up of the exertion of labor and capital, but expresses nothing except the advantage of appropriation."

"Taxes levied upon the value of land cannot check production in the slightest degree, until they exceed rent, for unlike taxes upon commodities, or exchange, or capital, or any of the tools or processes of production, they do not bear upon production."

"But more than this. Taxes on the value of land not only do not check production as do most other taxes, but they intend to create production by destroying speculative rent."

There—that is Henry's Georges case, or at least as much of it as can be crowded into a column.

TODAY Is The Day

EASTER MONDAY, APRIL 22

Today's Yesterdays—Every Easter Monday—Cheese cakes are distributed to all strangers in Biddenden, Kent, England, in accordance with the bequest of "Siamese Twins" who preceded THE Siamese Twins by seven centuries.

Eliza and Mary Chulchurst, who lived joined at hips and shoulders for 34 years (1100-34), decreed that the income from 20 acres of land should be devoted to giving cakes to visitors and leaves of bread and cheese to villagers on this day.

April 22, 1566—Comtesse de Breze, Duchess de Valentinois, died at 67, destined to be memorable as Diana of Poitiers. She ruled the heart of Henry II and, through him, France. She was 16 years older than he was, yet she retained his affections for 30 years.

April 22, 1692—Speaking of witchcraft—Edward Bishop was imprisoned in England for doubting witchcraft! England and America were both in the grip of a witchcraft fever at the moment; Salem's witch burnings were at their height.

Matthew Hopkins, the most famous witch-finder of the time, hanged as a witch after a bloody career of three years.

April 22, 1861—Thomas Holiday Hicks, 63, governor of Maryland, sought to stop the war between the states by attempting to get both sides to call a truce until their differences could be arbitrated, with the British minister, Lord Lyons, as arbitrator.

April 22, 1888—In a single day a city of 10,000 with stores, houses, banks, newspapers, etc., sprang up in the uninhabited open prairie!

The city was Guthrie, Okla., founded as 50,000 settlers entered and located in the 1,900,000 acres of Oklahoma territory thrown open by Presidential proclamation.

Population of Guthrie today, about 10,000!

give men the right to exploit and the exploited—Rugged Individualism. Our national milk problem is not unlike the hog and crop problem. The farmers of one state go on a milk strike. The farmers of a neighboring state have a boom in the milk business because the law protects the humanitarian distributor who makes it possible for the babies in their area to live. We plow our wheat under and our 100 per cent patriotic business men buy from other wheat growing nations causing a boom in the market for those nations. United States may be handing themselves a kick in the pants but we sure are ending the depression for a lot of other people. It's like "absence makes the heart grow fonder for somebody else."

Rudy Vallee Takes "Poke" At Heckler In Atlantic City, N. J.

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 22.—"Just part of show business." Nonchalantly Rudy Vallee referred in this manner today to his fistic embroglio with a heckler at the steel pier yesterday.

"A performer has to expect those things, I guess," Rudy declared. "They're all in the game."

Eight thousand spectators were watching Vallee's variety show on the pier and a mad dancier was doing a solo number when a man in the audience began to pitch pennies on the stage.

Wheat Supplies At Lowest Ebb

Continued Advance In World Wheat Prices Looked For As Result

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The lowest stock of wheat on farms in the United States since 1928 was reported today by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, with a forecast of a continued advance in world wheat prices.

Wheat on farms as of April 1 was estimated at 93,699,000 bushels, the lowest since the 88,057,000 bushels mark of April 1, 1928. Based on April 1 condition, production of winter wheat was forecast at 435,000,000 bushels, a reduction from earlier forecasts due to abandonment of a large portion of the winter wheat acreage in the drought area of Western Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, the Texas Panhandle and Eastern Colorado and New Mexico.

Alighting From Left Side Of Car At Your Own Risk

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 22.—A motorist alighting from the left side of a parked vehicle into the path of traffic does so at his own risk and likely will be unable to collect for personal injury or for damages to his car resulting therefrom, according to the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

In warning of the dangers of this practice which, it says, results in many accidents, the state motoring body cites an opinion handed down recently by the Pennsylvania superior court in the case of Lloyd R. Seller vs. Philadelphia R. T. Co.

Reversing a decision of the lower court the superior court held that "when one is about to alight from an automobile on the carway side of the street, a duty is imposed upon him to exercise a reasonable and ordinary degree of care by looking or listening for approaching traffic."

Dime-A-Letter Idea Illegal

Country Is Being Flooded
With Dime-A-Letter
Writers, Many
"Clean Up"

(International News Service)

DENVER, April 2.—Huey Long's share-the-wealth plan, Dr. Townsend's old-age pensions, Sinclair's ERA, technocracy, and the thousands of other schemes for solving the nation's ills were forgotten today as Denver and the Rocky Mountain west wrestled with the mathematical intricacies of the dime-a-letter scheme.

"Absolutely illegal," postoffice officials declared. "Every person participating is doing so in violation of postal regulations and can be put in jail."

After a glimpse of the volume of letters pouring through the Denver postoffice they admitted that present prison facilities of the nation would not be adequate for all the violators.

Spontaneous Plan

The plan is said to be the most spontaneous of the many get-rich-without-work propositions of recent years. It is believed to have originated in Oklahoma. A majority of the participants are women.

A dime is sent to the first of six names appearing at the top of the letter received. Similar letters are written to the other five, and the writer adds his own name.

If every person receiving the letter obeys the instructions, the number of persons involved increases to the sixth power of six, of 15,625 letters are received by each writer, a total of $1,562.50 in dimes.

Will Make Arrests

Following publication of a story yesterday that federal officials were to make arrests, protests poured into the offices of local newspapers. Each protest had his or her tale of the great benefits of the scheme.

One woman had a friend who sent out a dime in a letter and received enough in return to pay off the mortgage just as she was about to be evicted from her home. Another had a neighbor whose chain-letter dimes saw her through a serious operation.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 48 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. April 21, twelve arrests on charges as follows: Violation of auto parking time limit 5, Drunkenness 5, Disorderly conduct 1 and complaint of wife 1.

Inasmuch as Parks Director Joseph D. Alexander has named members of the park commission it is probable that within the next few days the commission and Alexander will outline their program for this summer. As soon as federal funds are available Alexander proposes to have RWD labor make more improvements at Cascade Park. There yet remains considerable to do at Cunningham park. He stated today that as soon as feasible, calcium chloride will be placed on Cascade boulevard between Hamilton street and the park. He said that the material was well worth using last summer.

Since Police Chief John F. Haven commenced publication of safety lessons there has been a noticeable decrease in accidents inside the city limits.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne has demonstrated by the imposition of hefty fines that he does not propose allowing persons to resist police and escape without paying for their actions. A few days ago he fined one person $25.00 for such an offense and in police court Sunday fined another man $25.00 for the same offense.

M. C. Bartlett, representative of Burns & McDonnell, consulting electrical engineers for the city in its controversy with the Pennsylvania Power company arrived here Saturday and conferred with Solicitor Robert White. The Public Service commission will take testimony at Pittsburgh, April 24.

Castlewood

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Florence White was pleasantly surprised on Friday evening when she returned home from a neighbor's and found a number of her school mates and friends at her home in honor of her thirteenth birthday. There were twenty-four girls present and a merry time was spent in playing games. The honor guest was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. At a later hour lunch was served by Mrs. White, Mrs. Ruth Reno and Mrs. Ruth Currie.

CASTLEWOOD NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Henderson announce the birth of a daughter on April 17.

Mr. and Mrs. James Follett spent Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Cora Rhinehart.

Phyllis Casey of Ellwood City spent her Easter vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bowers.

Howard Currie is spending the week end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Currie, of Weigeltown.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Gatti and children, Eileen, Charles and Buddy, and Mrs. Elsie Jackson of Butler, were callers at the R. E. Mattox home one evening recently.

The cigarette industry could never have been what it is except for these modern cigarette machines . . .

They make good cigarettes and smokers know each individual cigarette receives the most careful inspection.

You'd hardly believe such attention to detail possible unless you could see it with your own eyes.

When the Chesterfield tobacco comes to the cigarette making machines it has been blended and cross-blended.

Then it is cut into long even shreds just the right size to smoke right and burn right.

Every Chesterfield Cigarette has to be perfectly made to get by our inspectors.

Until you open the package yourself the cigarettes are scarcely touched by human hands.

Mild ripe tobaccos, skilled workers and the most modern up-to-date machinery all help to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

Everything that Science really knows about making cigarettes is used in making CHESTERFIELDS

COLLEGE LIBRARY FUND GETS $20,000 GIFT

Fund Is Given Excellent Boost

Westminster Library To Be Memorial To Dr. Ralph
Gibson McGill '02

McKEESPORT MAN IS GIFT DONOR

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa.,
April 22.—A gift of $20,000 toward the fund for the new library at Westminster college has been accepted from J. S. Mack, McKeesport, president of the G. C.
Murphy Co. Mr. Mack's donation stipulated that the new building be called the McGill library in memory of the Rev.
Ralph Gibson McGill, '02.

The board of trustees accepted the gift with the stipulation, and the new building, for which the students and faculty have been campaigning extensively during the last two weeks, will be named after the alumnus and friend of Mr. Mack.
The Rev. Mr. McGill, following his graduation from Westminster and seminary, worked for 20 years as a professor and missionary in Egypt. He was drowned August 7, 1926, while attempting to save the life of a native woman. His son, Willis McGill, was graduated from Westminster in 1933 and is now a student at the Pittsburgh-Xenia

Students Aid.
Contributions of student organizations last year amounted to more than $10,000. An additional $1,000 was left for the fund by the will of the late John Warden, Mt. Pleasant.
One hundred per cent contributions from faculty and students will, it is thought, add another $500 this week.
This will give the college a total fund of approximately $23,000. It is estimated that the new building will cost $125,000.

Mr. Mack, the donor of the $20,000, has long been a friend of Westminster. His numerous contributions of student loan funds, land, and property and his purchase of the Elliott property and its donation to the college are but some of recent philanthropic acts. His son, Gordon Mack, was graduated from Westminster in

Today

Converting Palestine.
Old-Fashioned Mr. Sloan.
Some Useful Wars.
Britain's New Crime.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE REV. MR. ROYALL, of South Carolina, is in America for a vacation, after fifty years of missionary work devoted to converting inhabitants of Palestine to the Baptist faith. Mr. Royall says:

"I live on Mount Carmel, not far from where Elijah made his sacrifice. I take my converts to the River Jordan, and bury them under the water, at the place of crossing where John baptized Jesus Christ."

Even after fifty years of earnest effort, Mr. Royall admits that many in Palestine are not converted. The Arabs believe to argue about Mohammed.

Many find it strange that Christianity should have made so little headway in Palestine where it started, and throughout the rest of Asia.
It was only when Christianity was taken to Europe that it developed its great strength.

ALFRED P. SLOAN, JR., president of General Motors, must be old-fashioned, quite out of step with modern, "easy come, easy go" methods. Opening the enormous new Chevrolet assembly plant in Baltimore, he pleased that great city and delighted its officials, saying that careful investigation proved to General Motors that "Baltimore offered the best opportunities for our particular needs."

He added, this is the old-fashioned part, that his decision was influenced largely by "a saving in the cost of our products and their selling prices to the consumer."
He said, notwithstanding the economic theories of the moment, I am old-fashioned enough to still believe in the most intelligent approach to increased consumption, reduced unemployment and better times.

That idea of giving the consumer something at a reasonable price will seem to many moderns as old-fashioned and out-of-date as the hoop skirt, bustle or hansom cab.

MODERN RADIO statesmanship will be horrified to hear from Mr.
Sloan that such assembly plants as the one in Baltimore, scattered throughout this country and in foreign countries, represent an investment of seventy-nine million dollars, all-year-round employment of thirty-six thousand five hundred thirty-five and an annual payroll above fifty million dollars a year.

SOME BOYS in high schools, and bigger boys in colleges, recently organized a "strike" to express their horror of war.

War is horrible, it should be, and eventually will be unnecessary. But there is some good in all evil, and young students and others should reflect on past wars and what modern civilization owes to them. They might ask themselves "which great wars would we have prevented? Which would we willingly eliminate from history?"

They are surely glad that the defeat of Persia made it impossible for Persia to suppress Greek art and intellect. Some are glad, some not,
that the destruction of Carthage prevented rule of Europe by the Semitic races.

If Semite Carthage had conquered Rome history would have been different, perhaps much improved, perhaps not.

Young Americans are glad that the Mohammedans were defeated by Charles "The Hammer" and that they did not get control of western Europe.

INTELLIGENT BOYS are glad that Napoleon won his first battles, making kings ridiculous, and lost
at Waterloo, making himself ridiculous and the French republic possible.
No American boy would willingly have prevented George Washington's war with King George.
War, murder, killing, brutality generally are deplorable, but there is one good thing about all wars. Intelligence conquers in the end and victory for intelligence is what the world's progress needs.

THE RICHMOND Times-Dispatch, which prints this column, tells you "one of Huey's bodyguards carried a Phi Beta Kappa key, also TWO GUNS."
Those that oppose adequate defensive armaments for this country might ask themselves "what would that bodyguard amount to if he had only the Phi Beta Kappa key and lacked the two guns?"

THE BRITISH that have enjoyed righteous scorn, contemplating our over-supply of United States killings, kidnappings, "torch murders," lynchings, suddenly confront various "un-British" performances on their home grounds.

They have one "torso murder," two unsolved "trunk murders," and now they have a quite too American "malet murder." The victim, Rattenbury, known as "Rats" to his wife and her alleged accomplices in the killing, was an architect.

BRITISH CRIME may be "going United States" but British justice remains British.

Next fall, or next year, British newspaper readers will not be hearing of various appeals and delays for those that killed poor "Rats." If guilty they will both have been hanged.

ROGER BABSON issues a warning that should interest Democrats soon to seek re-election. According to Mr. Babson the constantly increasing costs might beat the Democratic Party in 1936. On the other hand, there is considerable virtue in four thousand eight hundred and eighty million dollars.

dicate, Inc. International copyright and

ing of painting the exterior of the outside of a weather beaten barn.

About 28 tax collectors in Lawrence county would be out of jobs if the proposed Moomaw-Moran unit

troduced in the state legislature,

Distressed Lawrence county property owners who desire to apply for an HOLC loan should file their applications at the local office at once.

new funds will be available only to property owners whose applications have been filed prior to the date the

Under the will of the late Lucinda
J. Hanna of the third ward, a daughter, Elizabeth Hanna, is left bank certificates and certain personal property, a lot in Erie and the Homestead on Vine street. When the real estate is sold the proceeds are to be equally divided among three daughters, Elizabeth Hanna, Lola F.
Stewart and Erma M. Clark.

Very few emergency crop loans have been made in Lawrence county so far this year, according to Alderman L. C. Mantz, who is in charge of the local branch of governmental activities along that line. However, farmers are just entering the planting season and it is a little early to judge the requirements of the county. Farmers are also granted loans for the feeding of cattle.

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell has received a set of new rules and regulations governing the issuance of passports. The new rules are grouped under four heads as follows:
First, a native citizen unaccompanied by members of his family;
second, a native citizen, accompanied by members of his family; third, form for applicant claiming citizenship thru naturalization and unaccompanied by members of his family, and fourth, the same when accompanied by members of family. Prothonotary has ordered a supply of the new blanks from Washington.

Attention of motorists is called to a superior court opinion in a case growing out of a suit for damages by a man who was injured when he alighted from his car in the path of traffic, or from the left side of his car. The court held "That when one is about to alight from an automobile on the carway side of the street, a duty is imposed upon him to exercise a reasonable and ordinary degree of care by looking for approaching traffic." In case in question the driver parked his car along the curb, opened the left door and had one foot on the running board when the door of his car was hit by a taxi going in the same direction. The man recovered a verdict for $77.50 against the operator of the taxi. This was reversed by the superior court in the opinion, which said "There was room on the street for the taxi driver to have gone further to the left, but when on his right side of the carway and was not bound to anticipate the sudden opening of a car door."

of the property is to be converted into cash when it can be done to good advantage and the money is to be divided among decedent's nine children, George, John, Marion,

are Arthur and Josephine Sirianni.

To a second American protest received this week Japan replied verbally that her position remained should be taken up with Manchukuo herself.

Court Comes To Abrupt End For Lack Of Cases

All Jurors Not On The Thayer-County Case Are Discharged This Forenoon

AGREED VERDICT IN ONE CASE IS GIVEN

Many of the jurors summoned to attend court this week were considerably disappointed this morning when it was found that there was only one case that could be taken up in court room No. 2, before Judge Chambers, and an agreement had been reached in this case.

It was the case of Cora B. Haley against Elizabeth Boyer, in which the plaintiff claimed damages as a result of an automobile accident. William Haley was driving the car of his mother, Cora B. Haley, on West Washington street at 1 o'clock on the morning of September 19, 1934. He was passing the intersection of Beaver street, when the Boyer car came out of the street and struck him, doing some damage to the car.

Under the agreement reached the plaintiff is to pay the defendant $30. A jury was sworn and being informed of the amount agreed upon rendered a formal verdict.

As attorneys in the Thayer case against the County of Lawrence were interested in other cases scheduled for trial in court room No. 2, and were busy in court room No. 1, there were no other cases that could be taken up. Assistant Prothonotary Jack Edgar made out pay slips for all the other jurors and they were discharged.

At 9:30 this morning, firemen were called to the home of James Dunn, of 302 Glass street, when sparks from the chimney set fire to some dead leaves which had gathered in the eaves. There was no damage resulted to the home.

New Minister Speaks At Rotary Luncheon

Dr. McIlvaine Of First Presbyterian Talks On Success To Clubmen

In a brilliant luncheon address before the Rotary club Monday at the Castleton, New Castle's newest minister, Dr. John J. McIlvaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, made what constituted his formal debut in civic circles here.

Speaking on "Some Things That Make for Success," Dr. McIlvaine directed most challengingly a plea to the Rotarians to value highly in their lives, ambition, concentration and perseverance.

It was upon those three points that the new clergyman based his stirring message, in which he warned all not to be like "the duck hunter who aims at nothing and hits nothing."

Make Change In City Ordinance On Mercantile Tax

Councilman Albert Hoyland today presented a bill to council which met in city hall clarifying the mercantile tax that must be paid here providing the measure passed.

The old ordinance passed in 1899, set an arbitrary tax on specific kinds of business.

The new bill provides that there will be charged as tax each year one tenth of one percent of the gross receipts, total tax on any one place not to exceed $100.00. Under the old ordinance a tax as high as $95.00, could be charged.

Solicitor Robert White explained that the new bill is a revenue measure and not a license measure.

Under a license ordinance a person who does not pay the license can be arrested. Under provisions of the new bill in case a person fails to pay the tax the city can sue for the tax.

The measure was sent to committee for consideration.

Pittsburgh Rabbi Heard At Temple

Dr. Freehof Of Rodef Shalom Fills Pulpit As Congregation's Guest

It was a large and enthusiastic congregation that greeted Dr. Solomon B. Freehof, rabbi of Rodef Shalom temple, Pittsburgh, when he spoke recently from the pulpit of Temple Israel, Highland and Moody avenues, as guest rabbi. His topic was: "Youth versus Youthfulness—a Passover Sermon."

Dr. Freehof pointed out the differences between youth and youthfulness. "Youth is physical," said he, "whereas youthfulness is mental and spiritual." As such, youth wanes and disappears; youthfulness can and often does remain even when a person has reached a ripe old age, physically. Old people can do naught but look back at their youth; they can only reminisce about those all-too-short years that are passed. But if they have youthfulness, they do not look back, they do not reminisce, for youthfulness, by its very nature, makes man look forward rather than backward.

Aliquippa High Game Will Draw Many To Taggart Field Friday Evening

No Individual Stars On "Red Hurricane" This Year, Prices Same As Last Year

Under the Mazda lamps at Taggart stadium Friday night the football fans of New Castle are going to see the 1935 edition of the New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team. Opposing the Pa. Newclians across the white chalk lines will be the strong Aliquippa high eleven, one of the best in the Beaver valley last year. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock.

After several weeks of intensive drills the New Castle high school football team will be ready for its showing, with five of the veterans of last year in the starting lineup. There will not be any individual stars on the team this year, according to those in the "know." It will be a well balanced eleven that will stress cooperation and team play ahead of individuality.

Expect Big Crowd
Aliquippa will no doubt bring a record crowd to Taggart field. The largest number of paid admissions witnessed the Aliquippa-New Castle game back in 1929, in which the locals won 13 to 7, and also in 1930 when New Castle won 13 to 2. The two teams have not met for five years. Coach Nate Lippe is anxious to play New Castle again and decided upon a spring battle when the two teams could not get together for a regular fall game.

The Aliquippa high fans, always follow the team in strong numbers. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner is making arrangements to handle a packed stadium Friday night. The admission prices will be the same as for the spring games last year, 50 cents for reserved seats in the concrete stands, 35 cents for bleacher seats and 25 cents for students.

Settle Umpire Question Tonight

Manager Black Of A. S. & T. P. Club, Says Hunt Is On For Field

WEST PITTSBURGH STARTS PRACTICE

Having organized for the 1935 season one week ago, managers of Lawrence county baseball league teams will meet with Lou Glitch, representative of county umpires, tonight at the Sport Goods store.

Out of the session will come a definite understanding as to whom will serve as arbiters, their rate of pay and arrangements for carrying them to and from baseball games.

For years Glitch has been active in baseball and during the past several years he has assigned umpires to games. The job has been filled with grief and no other person is more qualified than Glitch to do the job.

Inasmuch as he is thoroughly conversant with the qualifications of the different men who call the balls and strikes and upon whose verdicts games result, his remarks tonight should carry considerable weight.

Alec Black, named manager of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company team, stated Saturday that the team will be in the league. What grounds the team will use has not yet been ascertained.

The employees of the tin mills are behind the club and according to plans they ought to be represented by a fast team, as Manager Black has already placed two pennants on flag poles.

West Pittsburgh Garlands who hold a franchise in the circuit have begun spring drills, according to Manager Onicka. The team will be composed of players who have gambled in the circuit during the past few years.

"Dizzy" Dean Tames Pirates

Cardinals Defeat Pittsburgh, 6 To 1; Ruth Hits Homer In Boston

SEVERAL EXTRA INNING GAMES

By HOMER METZ
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 22.—Like the first report of Mark Twain's demise, these training camp stories that the singular Dizzy Dean had lost some of his remarkable effectiveness appear to have been greatly exaggerated.

If Dizzy's performance against the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday is any indication of a stiff arm let's have more of them.

Dean Whips Pirates
The eccentric Dean held the Pirates to five scattered hits and enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to win an easy 6 to 1 victory before 28,000 fans, the largest crowd to attend a game in Pittsburgh since 1929. He would have had a shutout if Arky Vaughan hadn't got hold of a fast ball in the second inning and driven it into the left field bleachers for a homer.

It was Dean's first victory of the year. Another alleged "has-been" also came through with a very creditable performance up in Boston, although it wasn't enough to give his team a victory. Babe Ruth hit his second home run of his National league career off Ray Benge in the first inning, but the Boston Braves, dropped an 8 to 1 decision to the fast stepping Brooklyn Dodgers.

Play The Game
The New York Giants and the Philadelphia Phillies appear to think this is mid-season. They're playing as if it were. Over in Philadelphia they battled hectically to a 4-4 tie in the eleventh inning when the six o'clock Sunday curfew halted activities.

Those surprising Cincinnati Reds batted across four runs in the twelfth inning to humble the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 4.

For seven innings, Bill Dietrich, a bespectacled right-hander, held the New York Yankees hitless at New York, but in the eighth inning he suddenly weakened and allowed four runs to sift across the plate on three safe bingles. The result was his team, the Pennsylvania Athletics lost the ball game, 4 to 3.

Tigers Top Indians
The champion Detroit Tigers, playing on their home lot, had to go thirteen innings in order to trim the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 2. Schoolboy Rowe relieved Carl Fischer in the seventh and got credit for his first victory of the year.

In a fast wild played game at St. Louis that went ten innings the Chicago White Sox downed the Browns 6 to 5 before a holiday crowd of 9,000. The Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators were rained out.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.
COCHRANE'S TRAINING PLAN

Major league baseball teams are very slow in breaking away from the aged customs of the game but occasionally the conservative element is over-ruled by such men as Wrigley, Rickey and MacPhail. Now, along comes Mickey Cochrane with a plan to change spring training methods.

Cochrane believes the clubs should get to their training bases in the spring and stay put instead of chasing all over the southern part of the country. The conditioning period would be shortened but the teams would assemble at their training grounds and stay there until just before the season opened.

The exhibition jaunts between the training bases and home would be eliminated entirely. Instead of the method of practicing now used, the teams would locate near each other and could then have inter-club games without going on extensive tours to play minor or semi-pro teams.

The plan looks good and may yet win enough backers to get a trial next spring at least by some of the clubs. It eliminates the short but frequently tiresome trips from one small town to another. These trips hardly aid a player in conditioning himself. The change in food and water does him no good and the bus or railroad accommodations are not always satisfactory.

The diamonds in many of the small towns where the players perform are frequently nothing more than rock piles. These can and do sometimes result in serious injuries to players. And even when the injury is only slight the player loses some of the conditioning he is supposed to be having.

The slow trip towards home with many stops along the way is usually accompanied by rain or cold weather. Many days that the teams could have played in the extreme southern states like Florida or Louisiana have been too wet or too cold for further work.

All these unsatisfactory conditions now experienced by the clubs in spring training could be eliminated by Cochrane's plan. No short jaunts would break up the training routine, only good diamonds would be used, and the best weather would be available until the season opened.

In addition, this method would probably prove more economical. The shorter period of training would take many dollars off the bill as also would the elimination of the trips hither and yon over the southern territory.

All of these advantages in conditioning should be enough to persuade the club owners that the plan is better than the one now employed, yet if adopted it will probably be the economical advantage that moves the owners. In these times anything that can save money is always of interest to the baseball lords.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

The Chicago Cubs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 15-2, with Lon Warneke holding the Cards to one hit.

Frank Shields, Davis Cup player of New York, won the Plaza challenge bowl, emblematic of the singles championship of the Mason and Dixon tennis tournament, by defeating Betsy Grant of Atlanta.

Soft Ball Moguls To Meet Tonight

A short meeting of the New Castle Soft Ball Association managers and officials will be held at the "Y" tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting is for the purpose of passing out schedules to the managers and have the league go on record as adopting the new 1935 schedule of games. The meeting has been called by President Charles "Bugs" Walter.

The soft ball season will start on Monday, May 13, with five games on "tap." The first game of the year will be played Sunday afternoon, May 12, at Centennial field, and it looks as if the Radators and Unions would be the opponents.

Braddock Almost Through With Ring Year Ago, Will Fight For Title

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 22.—The man is apparently so good now that he's soon to fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. He was so bad a year ago that his worst fears were realized and, before he knew it, he had to work for a living.

And there being no sense at all to a situation like that, I decided to take the matter up today with James J. Braddock's manager. What, says I, is the answer to all this drivel? Not anticipating the inquiry, the manager, a Mr. Joe Gould, was taken unexpectedly candid and almost told the truth. In fact, he actually thought of very few answers and only one of them was good.

Cunningham Gives Explanation Today

(International News Service)
LAWRENCE, Kas., April 22.—"I just didn't run fast enough," was Glenn Cunningham's explanation today of his defeat by Glen Dawson in the exhibition mile race at the annual Kansas relays.

Speculation concerning Cunningham's future track career was rife, as experts recalled Saturday's defeat was his third indifferent race in the past three weeks.

Cunningham ran a 4:28 mile at the Texas relays, and was timed at 2:24 for 1,000 yards indoors at St. Louis, two weeks ago. The winning time Saturday was 4:17.4, as compared to Cunningham's record of 4:06.7.

Jim Thorpe Is After Trophies

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 22.—Although he recently announced he was definitely through with sports, Jim Thorpe, noted Indian athlete, today had launched a campaign to regain trophies he won in the 1912 Olympic games held in Sweden.

The trophies were returned to Sweden after being presented to Thorpe on the A. A. U. charge that the Indian had been a professional before the Olympic games.

Several years before the Olympics, Thorpe claims, he accepted $20 to cover his expenses in a baseball game to which he had to travel to play.

After the trophies were returned to Sweden they were offered to H. Weislander, who had won second place to Thorpe.

"Jim Thorpe won them—not I," Weislander declared in refusing to accept the trophies.

"I've won my last contest," the 47-year-old Carlisle Indian said today. "But there's one thing I want to do for my kids—I want them to know what their father once was."

FRANK BUCK SAYS

"A BLACK PANTHER ISN'T HALF AS TREACHEROUS AS A BLOW-OUT"

THIS NEW GOODRICH TIRE IS A LIFE-SAVER

"I'D RATHER try to 'bring back alive' a roaring lion than bring myself safely through another blow-out accident," says FRANK BUCK. "When that tire blew out—when my car plunged off the road at those rocks—there was nothing I could do to avoid the crash. Now I'm playing safe by riding on Goodrich Silvertowns."

Can you afford to take chances that a man like Frank Buck doesn't care to take—can you afford to risk your life with high-speed blow-outs when Goodrich Safety Silvertowns, the only tires in the world with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, cost no more than other standard tires? Of course you can't. Get a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns now. Then you'll get real blow-out protection and months of extra mileage FREE.

Play Safe!

At speeds of 40, 50, 60 miles an hour, terrific heat is generated inside the tire. This heat causes rubber and fabric to separate. A blister forms and grows bigger and bigger until suddenly BANG! A blow-out! Anything might happen.

But in Silvertowns the rubber and fabric don't separate. The remarkable Golden Ply invention resists internal heat. Blisters don't form. These high-speed blow-outs don't get a chance to start. In addition, Silvertowns, with their big, husky-cleated treads, will give you positive protection against dangerous "tailspin" skids. Put a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns on your car today. That's the way to play safe.

Rank And File To Be Opposed

Tighe Says Members Of Group Are Victims Of A Delusion

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 22—Describing the "rank and file" group of workers as "victims of a delusion," Michael F. Tighe, veteran president of the Amalgamated association of iron, steel and tinworkers, assembled his forces today on the eve of the association's 60th annual convention, determined to oppose the recognition demands of the younger element.

Sessions of the convention, scheduled to begin tomorrow, are expected to continue for about 10 days. With the "rank and file" plus delegates of at least 20 expelled lodges, clamoring for admittance, the convention this year has focused attention on the struggle in the ranks of the workers for labor domination.

According to Aaron Sapiro, attorney affiliated with the "rank and file," court action will be taken to gain the restoration of membership rights in the association for lodges whose charters have been revoked. Sapiro said there was precedent for such action in the granting of an injunction, similar to the one now sought, to the recovery Amalgamated lodge of Massillon, O., last week.

liance in this reasoning, which accounts for the fact that Mr. Gould has been able to resist and even outwit work all these years. At work, it seems, the man learned to use his left hand. (This is still Gould.)

"You see," he explained, "Brad-dock was always a right-hand puncher. But in his last fight before going to work on the docks, he injured his right hand and had to carry railroad ties with his left. Yes, the poor fellow had to carry railroad ties. The result is that now punches practically as well with left as he does with his right and, if you want to know any more about that, ask Corn Griffin, John Henry Lewis and Art Lasky.

There will be no evening service in the First Congregational church as many of the members will be in Aliquippa.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Will Hear Debaters

A debate by the newly installed A. Z. A. group of the New Castle Lodge, No. 609, B'nai B'rith, will feature the regular meeting of B'nai B'rith members at the Cosmo club on Thursday, April 25, at 9 p. m.

Participating as debaters that night will be Gilbert Levine, David Lerner, Lester Levine, Joshua Kaplan and Sol Waldman, an alternate.

Relief Probe Is Continued To Next Friday

Examination On Saturday Afternoon Takes In Testimony Of Officials

RELIEF METHODS INQUIRED INTO

James E. Moorhead was recalled to the stand when the legislative investigation of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief Board was resumed Saturday afternoon at the court house and was questioned in regard to the amount of money which the state allows for rents.

He stated that the maximum amount paid per month, regardless of what the tax on the property amounted to, was $12.50. This was based on a family of five persons. He was also questioned again in regard to memorandums from the state relative to employment of personnel, and presented a memorandum dated April 15, 1935, which related to an examination for Junior Investigators, to be held May 4, 1935. The memorandum stated that in case more investigators were needed before the date that they could be hired on a temporary basis. The salary for the new Junior Investigators, is to be $80 per month.

No Economic Status Inquiry
In reply to a question from Attorney Long, Mr. Moorhead stated that there was no specification as to the residence of the applicants, and that people who would apply here would not necessarily have to reside in Lawrence county. There was no necessity for the local office to inquire into the economic status of the applicant, unless they wanted to do so, Mr. Moorhead stated.

He stated in reply to a question as to the method of determining the number of investigators necessary to conduct the investigation of persons applying for relief, that there should be one investigator for every 100 cases. He said there were now 5,981 cases, and on that basis should have 59 investigators. He felt there was a need for more investigators here to properly cover the field.

The previous age limit for investigators was from 25 to 45 years of age. Under the new examination notice, the age limit is from 23 to 45 years.
The schedule showing the amount of relief each person is entitled to was introduced into the record, also the milk allowance, and other allowances.

Determine Relief Need
Persons who have employment are also entitled to relief, Mr. Moorhead said, which is determined on the budgetary deficiency plan. It is the duty of the investigators to determine whether these people are in need of relief and what their income is. The investigators should pay a visit to the people they are checking on, every thirty days, he stated, but this was not altogether possible because of the fact that the investigators, are overloaded.

Approximately ten new investigators have been taken on since he has been on the job, Mr. Moorhead said. There have been two who have been employed since the work was started. He said that a record was kept of the manner in which the investigators conducted themselves, of the complaints received against them, how much interest they took in their work, and the way they conducted themselves in staff meetings.

They are entitled to five cents per mile mileage in conducting their investigations, if they have cars. The ones in town are only allowed street car fare.
He was questioned in regard to expense allowance which permitted him, and said that he had an allowance for meals and mileage if he goes to Harrisburg. This is added to his regular salary, he stated.

Not Allowed To Sell
When an extra allotment of clothing or food is received from the state or Federal governments, he stated it was apportioned according to the need of the individuals on the recommendation of the investigators.

"If they don't need it are they allowed to sell it," Attorney Long asked.

"No, they are supposed to return it," Mr. Moorhead said.
In regard to an inquiry on clothing, Mr. Moorhead stated that the clothing office would close down Monday and there will be no further distribution of clothing. In the future, the persons on relief will receive an order the same as a food order, and will make their own purchases of clothing.

He could not give the details as to how surplus materials were given out, but stated that Miss Norris could supply this information. She is to be called next Friday.

W. Bruce Caldwell, area works director, who has been in this position here for the past two weeks, was called to the stand. He has charge of works projects in the three counties, he stated, and is responsible and reports to Harrisburg to the state works director.

Call Works Director
He stated that Mr. Leslie is the works director for Lawrence county. It is the duty of the local works director to develop local projects, he stated. The estimates of cost and the amount of labor required on a project, is done by the sponsors of the project, after which it is checked over by the L. W. D. engineers.

Once a project is approved, a requisition is made on the Works division for suitable employees to carry on the work. In Lawrence county, this is the state employment office, he said.

Under the present setup, all materials are supplied by the sponsors, which may be municipalities, counties, townships, and school districts. Sponsors have nothing to do with the employment of foremen, he stated. Generally 140 men are called out on a 100-man project to take care of the slack due to some men not wanting to work on the project, and the inefficient ones being laid off.

He stated that he believed most men were anxious to work, however, but some few don't and the work in general is not quite as efficiently done as if done by a private contractor, as some of the men assigned are not suited for the work they are doing. Foremen are on a weekly salary, he stated, and receive their money whether they work full time or not, as they must have a delay through lack of materials or some unforeseen circumstance. Time keepers work on the same basis, he said.

Townships have to hire their engineers to draw up plans and specifications for projects, he stated, as they do not have a full-time engineer as a rule. There might be a saving to them, if the work could be done by the Relief Works division, he stated. As a rule, the engineers come from another district. It is a ruling of the engineering department in Harrisburg that the resident engineer cannot be a resident of the county in which he is serving, he stated.

The engineering force here is not responsible to him, he stated. They report direct to Harrisburg, although they work in cooperation with each other.
Mr. Caldwell was unable to answer many of the questions in regard to the engineering department, which were asked him, as he stated that he was not familiar with the procedure here.

At the conclusion of Mr. Caldwell's questioning, the hearing was adjourned until next Friday morning.

The sun is approximately 3,000,000 miles nearer the earth on Jan. 1 than on July 1.

CONSIDER FORMAL REPLY TO HITLER

Nations League Studies Matter

Procedure Plan Is Perplexing As Germany Answered Nations Separately

LEAGUE TAKES UP MEMEL COMPLAINT

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 22.—Nations that led in "condemning" Germany's rearmament at Geneva last week today made an important move in favor of the Reich when Britain, France, and Italy dispatched "strong representations" to Lithuania over the situation in Memel.

The western powers, referring to the Reich's charges that Lithuania discriminated against the German majority in Memel, suggested that the territorial directorate, which governs Memel, be made more representative of the political and national makeup of the elected Memel chamber.

The Lithuanian government is understood to have held its ground, replying that Germany had been invited to join the directorate, but the Nazis had prevented this step and a deadlock resulted.

Memel, taken from Germany to provide Lithuania with a port on the Baltic, is meant to be practically self-governing, but Germany alleges that Lithuania has set up a practical dictatorship there.

Consider Reply To Hitler

The Allies' action on Memel came just when they and ten other members of the League of Nations council were studying Chancellor Hitler's terse communication of Saturday, in which Germany "challenged the right" of the council members "to set themselves up as judges" of Germany's rearmament.

Consultation through diplomatic channels among leading members of the council is expected to take place before any decision is taken regarding a reply to the German protest.

A point of procedure is involved, since Hitler sent his note to the representatives of the thirteen nations individually, instead of to the league as an entity.

Some quarters in London feel that it would be a tactical error to make a formal reply, fearing that it would add fuel to the controversy and delay private negotiations by which Germany might be brought back into the league, which is still the hope of the British government.

Hitler's statement that Germany would "make known soon the attitude it will adopt" on the Geneva criticism may have left the way open for further negotiations on general security, many quarters believed.

except the Seventh ward department. Fire Chief Stockman also went to the scene on the second alarm.

The fire was hard to fight because of the fact that the Hotel Annex is broken up into a number of small storerooms, along Market Way, and the blaze got in between the partitions in the rear of the rooms at 124 and 128 Market Way, and also worked its way between the partitions up into a bathroom in the hotel rooms above, where it was checked just as it started to spread out under the roof.

Do Efficient Work

Firemen did an efficient job in checking the fire and fought the blaze under great difficulty because of the dense smoke. Several of the firemen were temporarily overcome by smoke, but remained on the job. The great part of the loss was confined to the plumbing shop, but there was a small amount of damage to the one room in the Hotel Annex, and in the rear of the National Yeast Products store at 124 Market Way. The room at 128 Market Way was formerly occupied by a pool room, but has not been used for several years. Although the tables are still in the room.

Smoke also did some damage to Keefe's restaurant at 26 South Mill street, adjoining the hotel building. The entire loss is covered by insurance, it is stated.

The blaze occurred just before the evening church services were out, and a large crowd gathered at the scene while the fire was being fought.

After the fire had been extinguished, Fireman Harry Mally, of Central Department, collapsed from the effects of the smoke and was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital. His condition was much improved, it was stated this morning.

Fight Against Merging Cities

Industrial Leaders Against Sharon-Farrell Sharpsville Merger

(International News Service)

SHARON, Pa., April 22.—Determined to block the efforts being made to consolidate the municipalities of Sharon and Farrell, a group of industrial leaders of the latter place were to carry their battle to Harrisburg today.

The consolidation plan, proposed as a means of improving the Susquehanna valley's industrial condition, has aroused considerable opposition in Farrell. Citizens planned to join business leaders in the Harrisburg trip to obtain an amendment to the act of 1906, which permits a city to annex an adjoining municipality.

April 29 has been set as the date for a hearing on a petition presented by residents of Farrell for a special election on the merger program.

Cabinet Studying Textile Industry

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Four cabinet members today were preparing an earnest study of the nation's textile industry ordered by President Roosevelt.

Representing a special committee to seek a solution not only for emergency conditions in the textile industry but a planned economy for the future, the cabinet members were Secretaries Hull, Wallace, Roper and Perkins, representing the state, Agriculture, commerce and labor departments respectively.

President Roosevelt hinted that federal loans to cotton mills to replace obsolete plants and machinery with modern equipment may be one of the results of the study.

Four Phases
The problems to which the president directed the cabinet committee to give special attention were divided by him into four phases as follows:

1. Relation of the processing taxes to the present situation, with recommendations whether a substitute method of taxes can be levied with less disturbance to the industry.
2. Wage differentials between northern and southern mills.
3. Cotton cloth imports and their possible injurious effect on American industry. This concerns chiefly Japanese competition.
4. The prevailing price of raw cotton, pegged by government loans, with the effect on domestic consumption.

The second half of the study will involve the possibility of a long-range plan to stabilize the textile business.

PA NEW OBSERVES

weather for New Castle. Instead of showers, New Castle and Lawrence county experienced a perfect Easter day.

Pre-Easter business and traffic downtown on Saturday night were exceptionally heavy, more so than for some years.

Standing around the fire in Market way last night in New Easter logs wasn't such a good idea, many spectators found. The dense smoke that came out of the building for a time was swept near the ground at times and left a smoke odor on clothing.

New Castle and Lawrence county churches on Easter Sunday is reported greater than for some years past. Probably the excellent weather was an aid to bringing out an increased attendance.

Easter day in the Jameson Memorial hospital was made a little brighter on Sunday through the courtesy of Mrs. Edward Shields, 714 Blaine street, representing the Highland W. C. T. U. Mrs. Shields took the time to go through the rooms and wards of the hospital distributing Easter favors, and her work was appreciated not alone by the patients, but by the hospital staff.

Friends in New Castle of General J. L. Myland of Los Angeles, Cal., a former prominent resident, will regret to learn that he is quite ill with a heart ailment and diabetes. He is being cared for by a nurse in a new location, St. Arthur apartment, 2014 West Eighth street. He writes that he still eagerly anticipates the arrival of The New Castle News, enjoying it more than his eats.

Parachute Jumper Suffers Injury

Captain R. E. Garrison, Well Known In New Castle, Injured In Jump Sunday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 22.—Capt. R. E. Garrison, record-breaking parachute jumper today could blame a high wind for injuries received in his first exhibition leap of the year.

Determined that the "show must go on" rather than let weather conditions disappoint a huge crowd at Bettis field, Garrison "balled out" successfully from 2,000 feet. But the "show" didn't end when the jumper's feet touched the ground. He was knocked unconscious and dragged 200 feet by the high breeze.

New Castle flying enthusiasts will recall having seen Captain Garrison make a number of successful parachute leaps over the New Castle airport near Parkstown, last year and in previous years.

Apples, grapes, oranges, blackberries, pineapples, watermelons, peaches, figs and mayhaws, will all make satisfactory vinegar.

night of terror in a driving rain in the open. Relief work was speedily organized, with the Red Cross dispatching parties from Taihu and Taichu, the larger towns of the stricken district, and the army battalion at Taichu sending 50 relief parties to set up field dressing stations.

Lack of medical supplies, coupled with the minor recurrent shocks, added to the agonizing conditions of the natives huddled in the woods and on mountain sides.

First Shock Sunday
The first shock, at 6:02 a. m. Sunday, caught most of the natives sleeping in their huts of sun-dried bricks, easily shaken down by the quake. A second tremor followed at 6:26, completing the destruction wrought by the first.

In the cities, where the houses were chiefly constructed of wood or stone, there was less damage from the tremors themselves, but fires sprang out in several places, raging through the tinderlike houses and increasing the death toll.

Whole villages of huts and frame houses were wiped out. Railway tunnels caved in, landslides buried tracks, and bridges collapsed. It will be some days before telegraphs and telephones are operating again, officials said.

Electric power plants were destroyed, a major oil pipe line burst, gas mains were broken, adding darkness and further fire peril to the woes of the residents in larger towns.

Tragic Scenes
Eye-witnesses who made their way into the capital brought poignant tales of weeping children running through the streets looking for their lost parents; of relatives digging in the debris for bodies, and of a shortage of coffins, making it necessary for the natives to use huge empty beer cases for caskets.

It was estimated that government buildings, schools, and business houses alone involved losses of 10,000,000 yen ($2,850,000).

No damage was reported to sugar refineries, and this year's sugar crop has already been refined and stored or shipped abroad.

Consul Maney, who has been here only two weeks, said the American consulate also escaped damage.

Emperor Hirohito of Japan ordered $8,000,000 yen ($2,280,000) set aside for relief and reconstruction, and the Formosa government immediately appropriated an additional 10,000,000 yen.

British warships stationed at Hong Kong, were preparing to go to the assistance of the islanders if needed.

The eighth air regiment, operating from its military base, started a survey of the devastated area. The third destroyer flotilla from the Mako, Japan, naval station is on its way with food, blankets, and first aid supplies.

This is Formosa's second major earthquake disaster in thirty years. In 1906 1,228 were killed.

Chinese Inhabitants
Taihoku, Formosa, April 22.—When Portuguese explorers landed here centuries ago, they renamed this island of Taiwan "Formosa", "beautiful." Today a large area of the Japanese-owned island is covered with death and desolation, but its semi-tropical beauty and vast resources remain untouched.

Annexed by Japan in 1895, the former Chinese possession has 92 percent of Chinese among its nearly 5,000,000 population. The remainder are mostly Japanese and Formosan aborigines. There are few Europeans here and the island attracts few tourists.

A low mountain range runs the length of the heavily-forested island. Paddy rice, camphor, minerals, and lumber are its chief products.

Formosa lies in the earthquake belt that runs the length of the China coast, including the islands of Japan Proper. An earthquake in 1906 killed 1,228.

The Tropic of Cancer bisects the island, which is mainly reached by small coastal vessels from Hong Kong. A Japanese governor-general heads the government.

Contest Entries Close On Tuesday

Funeral Of Mrs. Cameron

Funeral rites for Mrs. A. F. Cameron, of New Castle R. D. 4, were conducted at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and were attended by a crowd so large that the home was filled to overflowing. Mrs. Cameron was very well known and had an unusually large number of friends. Many representatives from various unions of the county W. C. T. U. of which Mrs. Cameron was a life member, were present.

The services were in charge of Rev. C. H. Hauger, pastor of the Croton Methodist Episcopal church, of New Castle, assisted by Rev. William Hammond, pastor of the Unity Baptist church of Harlansburg.

A mixed quartet touchingly rendered a favorite hymn of Mrs. Cameron's, "My Jesus As Thou Wilt." The many floral pieces were carried by Grace Pizer, Margaret Cameron, Viola Munnell, Frances Cameron, Beryl Cameron, Mrs. Thelma Essinger, Mrs. Lucille Cameron, Jean Cameron, Sara Mae Cameron, and Evelyn Hunt.

The pallbearers were Clarence Hunt, Ernest Cameron, Milton Cameron, John Hunt, Raymond Munnell and John Pizer.

Interment was made in Mt. Hermon cemetery.

Mr. Peccardo Funeral

Honorary pallbearers were Dominick E. Gizi, Peter Piccarri, Sabatino Zarrillo, Gilmoro Zona, Sarino Masro and Frank Basile, headed by Anthony Crudell, all members of the House of Savoia Society, of which Mr. Peccardo was a member.

The eulogy at the grave, in St. Vitus cemetery, was in charge of Joseph Paglia, president of the House of Savoia.

like what the well dressed young filly will be wearing next summer. It was a pleasant scene now the sover. There were more girls on Washington street between two and five than the street has seen in many a day, and in a few cases they were accompanied by the male of the species, but not often. On Easter Sunday a man is as useless as the beard on a wild turkey, for who gives a girl a second look if the boy friend is with her?

It was a great Easter. Everybody got a break. The business houses did so much business that they thought the corner had been turned and prosperity was right in their laps. At 10 o'clock you couldn't find enough candy eggs to fill a peck basket, and the florists shops looked as though someone had moved their stock out. The season set a new high in flower buying, at least in the past five years.

Everybody seemed satisfied, the gals got a chance to show off their clothes, and in passing may we say that some of the boys had on new suits also? But who cares?

AHEPANS WILL TALK COMING CONVENTION

Plans for the convale of district Ahepans here in July will be furthered when members of the New Castle Chapter, Order of Ahepa, convene on Tuesday, April 23, at 8 p. m. at St. George's Greek Orthodox church, Reynolds street, for a special meeting. President David Pappas will preside.

Man Is Killed, Seven Wounded In Mining Riot

Officials Take Steps To Quell Illinois Mine Warfare After Three Years

(International News Service)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 22.—Authorities today took steps to quell a renewal of the mine warfare which has left a three-year record of bombings, killings, riots and dynamiting of coal trains following a flareup here yesterday in which one man was killed and seven wounded.

Edris Mabie, 48, a founder of the progressive union, was killed when six men, believed by police to be members of the United Mine Workers Union, fired pistols into a group of progressives leaving a meeting on a downtown street.

SLOWER GROWTH

THERE comes a time in the life of every country when its population becomes stationary, and a study of population statistics gathered by the census bureau during the last three decades indicates that the United States is approaching that point.

An analysis made by life insurance company experts fixes the time at 1970 and the nation's population at that time at 170,000,000, which is nearly 50 per cent greater than the present population. This is predicated on the nation's birth rate, which has been steadily declining, and also on the assumption that the national government will never again let down the immigration bars.

History shows that once the population of a country ceases to grow it remains stationary for about half a century and then begins slowly to decline. This is something every land expects and usually finds desirable.

It is well that this matter of future population be kept in mind, for it will govern the country's economic and industrial expansion. There must be no building for a population and consumption which will never be realized, for that was one of the things which brought on the depression.

America owes her wealth and progress, and did owe her prosperity, to her rapid growth in population. Will she enjoy health, wealth, prosperity and progress when her population becomes stationary?

STILL PAYING

If you ever have doubted that wars are almost unimaginably expensive, consider this fact; today, seventy full years after the close of the Civil War the federal government is still paying out $5,000,000 a month to settle the cost of that conflict.

Seventy years add up to a long long time. Since the last shot was fired in the war between the states, children have been born, grown to old age and died—and all that while the nation's purse has been steadily and heavily drained to pay the bills.

It is appalling to reflect on the length of time war costs can hang on. Out grandfathers fought that war; we're still paying for it.

THANK YOUR DENTIST

The hardy cave dweller of old never had modern delicacies like cake, creamed chicken, and ice cream. He gnawed his meat off the bone and ate unhusked grain—and, according to some modern theorists, because of that fact he had healthy teeth.

However, Dr. E. B. Renaud, professor of anthropology at Denver University, has been looking at the skulls of ancient cliff dwellers in Mesa Verde National Park, and he finds evidence to the contrary. These old-timers, who lived on coarse, tough foods all their lives, had cavities in plenty, suffered from toothache just as we do, and also had pyorrhea.

And one must shudder painfully to think of having toothache in a land where the only possible remedy was to summon a neighbor and have him knock the decayed tooth out of your head with a pointed stone!

SKY'S THE LIMIT FOR IKES

Nobody in his right mind would deny Secretary Ickes' generosity that money spent to maintain the morale of the people is not wasted. There may be, however, an honest difference of opinion as to what constitutes effective morale-preserving expenditures. Federal waterpower projects may furnish employment to some, but if they make others jobless by ruining private enterprise, where is the gain in morale?

Surely Mr. Ickes' contention that "the real difficulty is that not enough money has gone into the Federal PWA program" can not be calmly accepted. Presumably the administrator even looks upon the new five-billion-dollar works-relief fund as inadequate. If Mr. Ickes' spending spree had measurably reduced the total of the country's unemployed, if it had appeared to make a dent in the depression, his words might carry conviction. As it is, they only make more apparent the utter futility, the complete hopelessness of the policy of recovery by spending.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

LAUGHING AT DANGER

That man is adventuresome, daring and courageous being witness him as he runs the gamut of daily life. It is a trait that comes to him naturally instinctively. He needs no provocation to urge him to deeds of daring nor can he be deterred by the cautious fears of the timid members of the species.

It is known that all animals experience the sensation of fear and that all fear is based on a premonition of bodily harm or death, but, although this sensation is strongest in man, man is most prone to court it. In spite of thousands of fatalities annually man, women and children daily climb perilous crags, tempt the deeps in flimsy craft, take to the air, participate in dangerous sports, speed in automobiles and otherwise disport themselves as though they would laugh at death.

We know that man loves life and fears death. We also know that he momentarily tosses the dice with the grim reaper and thinks nothing of the experience. The only explanation for this seeming paradox is the fact that the spark of eternal hope is stronger in the human mind than either his fear of death or his love of the risk that thrills.

We know some fellows who are in danger of getting slant-shouldered leaning on the government.

If you haven't money enough to be a capitalist or skill enough to be a worker, how'd you like to be an economist?

Farmers in the dust storm area who have in the past been troubled by an urge to travel might begin by following their farms.

If Dame Nature really wants to do something for us why doesn't she arrange for a gold-dust storm to come out of the West?

The one thing that has been settled definitely since March, 1933, is the status of Dolly Gann, who seems to have been lost in the shuffle.

A man always knows he has become a leading citizen of the town when he is asked to act as one of the judges in a high school oratorical contest.

The consumption of soap is reported to be increasing in Russia and by the time two or three more five-year plans have been completed it will probably catch up to the actual needs of the country.

I'D LIKE TO KNOW, TOO

A MAN SAID TO me: "I'd like to know why a friend sometimes treats you as he wouldn't think of treating a casual acquaintance."

"The other day I had an appointment with a friend on a certain corner, at a certain hour. I was there at the time, but he wasn't. I waited and waited, wondering what had happened to him. And when he finally appeared about 25 minutes late, he casually mentioned that an acquaintance had come in just as he was about to leave his office and he stopped to talk with him. . . . Now I don't think I'm so awfully important, but I think a friendship is, and why should my friend have left me out on a limb while he was talking to a mere acquaintance?"

"And this isn't the first time that sort of thing has happened. I'm against it, but I'll bet I've done it myself. If you happen to write anything about this, don't use my name because if you do some friend is sure to come around and remind me of the time I stood him up. . . . But I never mean to do it, and I figure it's one of the worst things you can do to a friend."

"It happens in families, too. Wives treat husbands that way, and husbands treat wives as if there were nothing between them but a purely formal acquaintance. Because they love each other, they think that's enough and they don't even trouble to act like friends."

"Don't get me wrong. I'm not arguing in favor of rudeness toward acquaintances. But I do think that if there's any choice between people you merely know and those you love you ought to resolve the difference in favor of those you like best. You don't need to lean over backwards and be nice to a guy you don't care a whoop about and say to yourself 'Jim don't mind, or Jane will understand.' Maybe they WILL understand, but you can't blame them for being annoyed. What do you think?"

"I think," said I, "that you've said everything."

FATALISTIC PROBIAS ARE BETTER FORGOTTEN

It is strange to contemplate how many human beings live in fear of something.

Strong, robust, apparently healthy fellows often fear they may be attacked by the disease which usually affects the weak and enemic.

Others believe they would be sure to have a mishap if they were to ride in an airplane.

These same people do not enjoy a train ride because of the conviction that they are doomed to meet death in a wreck.

Others are uneasy everytime they ride in an automobile driven by anyone but themselves.

Still others dread death by drowning.

People of this type are so sure of their fates that they frequently talk of their fears.

Their minds are seldom free from thoughts of what may befall them. Isn't it silly for any man to allow himself to be convinced that he is doomed to meet death in some certain way?

Perhaps you are one of these persons with a "fatality" complex.

Shake yourself out of it. You won't die till your time comes and then nothing can prevent it.

SOME U. S. POLICIES

Hillsville, Pa., April 19, 1935.
Editor News:
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:

I do not agree with Dr. Tugwell in his statement "The people are too dumb to understand the finer things of life" commended upon in a letter to The News from E. M. Underwood, April 17, 1935. The only way one can understand anything is to have an experience and an awareness of that thing. It is the finer things of life or just electric lights. Mr. Tugwell gives us a chance to understand the finer things of life, then judge.

E. M. Underwood mentioned Dr. Tugwell's chief contribution to the science of farming as he has observed, namely the killing of hogs and destruction of the farmers' growing crops. I wonder if it has ever occurred to many interested citizens just how difficult it is to get things done, the way they are originally planned in our governmental set-up. For instance, a legislator has an idea he has worked on to solve a government problem. This idea is presented to Congress in the regular routine of a bill. Before long the original idea is so butchered up, taken from, and added to that its maker hardly recognizes it. Often the changes are made just to get some ambitious legislation finger in the pie so as to have something to write home about.

I'm in no position to say what happened to the Department of Agriculture plans but it doesn't seem reasonable that their plans included, with the destroying program the practice, exercised by our business firms, of buying cheap pork, wheat, cotton, etc., from other countries. This is one big monkey-wrench in the cogs. If our business houses choose to buy from other lands they should pay for the crops destroyed to make prices higher in the hopes that the farmer might get some of the raise.

The American farmer continues to exercise the old pioneering spirit of "cutting down his own trees." I am

FUTURE WEATHER TOLD BY ONIONS

Charles F. Ranney, retired farmer of Westerville, Ohio, knows his onions—and thereby lies his uncanny ability for forecasting weather a year in advance.

Ranney's formula is: "I take an onion—three inches across—peel out 12 of the cups and set them in a row east to west. Then I place a teaspoonful of salt in each cup at midnight, New Year's eve, allowing them to lie undisturbed for 12 hours, each hour representing a month."

"When noon comes around the condition of the onion cups indicates the type of weather we will have throughout the year, each cup representing a month."

"A dry cup forecasts a dry month, a damp cup crusting the salt a month of moderate rainfall, and one in which water gathers reveals a heavy rainfall."

STILL AN AUTHORITY

The dictionary continues to be the authority on pronunciation but it apparently is not so regarded at all times by radio announcers and motion picture actors.

Blaring mispronunciations of even words in common usage are not infrequent over the air lanes and through the reproduction horns of the audible films. Directors of films might well impress on their own minds and their players the great value to cultured English to be gained by constant association with a good dictionary.

Radio announcers, national as well as local, err more consistently in faulty pronunciations than screen players. In their effort for mellifluous pitch and orotund delivery, these laborers at the microphone, who earn their bread in the sound of their voice, quite often get off with a flat deviation from the canons of good pronunciations.

The audible films and the radio are in a key position to spread knowledge of well-spoken English. The use of the dictionary is essential to this art. Directors of programs might well instill this idea in the minds of radio announcers and cinema players who are enacting roles presupposing a knowledge of the tongue in the characters portrayed.

The World At A Glance

Only One Tax.
Comment Is Received.
Henry George's Ideas.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, April 22.—Many persons have commented on the recent analysis in this column of Henry George's single tax theories of getting out of a depression.

In fact, that analysis seems to have been the most popular subject this column ever has contained.

Some persons have requested an amplification or a further explanation.

Henry George, whose economic works of more than half a century ago have become classics, suggested that all taxation be abolished except that on land values.

"Neither on the ground of equity or expediency is there anything to deter us from making land common property by taking rent into the public treasury," Henry George said. "Let the individuals who now hold land still retain possession of what they are pleased to call THEIR land. Let them continue to call it THEIR land. Let them buy and sell, and bequeath and devise it."

"It is not necessary to abolish land ownership; it is only necessary to take rent for public uses."

"In form, the ownership of land would remain just as now. No owner of land need be dispossessed, and no restriction need be placed upon the amount of land any one could hold. For, rent being taken by the state in taxes, land, no matter in whose name it stood, or in what parcels it was held, would be really common property, and every member of the community would participate in the advantages of ownership."

Henry George continued: "As we have seen, the value of land is at the beginning of society nothing. But as society develops by the increase of population and the advance of the arts, the value of the land becomes greater and greater."

"Whenever the idea of concentrating all taxation upon land value finds lodgment sufficient to induce consideration, it invariably makes way, but there are few of the classes most to be benefited by it, who at first, or even for a long time afterward, see its full significance and power."

"It is difficult for workmen to get over the idea that there is a real antagonism between cap and labor. It is difficult for small farmers and homestead owners to get over the idea that to put all taxes on the value of land would be unduly to tax them. It is difficult for both classes to get over the idea that to exempt capital from taxation would be to make the rich richer, and the poor poorer."

A great wrong always dies hard. And the great wrong, which in every civilized country condemns the masses of men to poverty and want, will not die without a bitter struggle.

HOW TAXATION WORKS
Concerning the various forms of taxation, Henry George said:

"The great class of taxes from which revenue may be derived without interference with production are taxes upon monopolies—for the profit of monopoly is in itself a tax levied upon production, and to tax it is simply to divert into the public coffers what production must in any event pay."

"All other monopolies are trivial in extent as compared with the monopoly of land. And the value of land expressing a monopoly, is in every respect fitted for taxation. . . . The value of land, or economic rent, is in no part made up of the exertion of labor and capital, but expresses nothing except the advantage of appropriation."

"Taxes levied upon the value of land cannot check production in the slightest degree, until they exceed rent, for unlike taxes upon commodities, or exchange, or capital, or any of the tools or processes of production, they do not bear upon production. . . ."

"But more than this. Taxes on the value of land not only do not check production as do most other taxes, but they intend to create production by destroying speculation."

There—that is Henry's George's case, or at least as much of it as can be crowded into a column.

Rudy Vallee Takes "Poke" At Heckler In Atlantic City, N. J.

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 22.—Just part of show business. Nonchalantly Rudy Vallee referred in this manner today to his fistic embroglio with a heckler at the steel pier yesterday.

"A performer has to expect those things, I guess," Rudy declared. "They're all in the game."

Eight thousand spectators were watching Vallee's variety show on the pier and a male dancer was doing a solo number when a man in the audience began to pitch pennies on the stage.

When the crooner expressed his disapproval, the heckler shouted, "They're not for you. They're for the dancer. I don't like him."

Suddenly Vallee stopped his band and retorted:

"I don't care who they're for. Don't throw any more."

When the heckler ignored this warning and tossed another penny on the stage, Vallee leaped into the audience and landed a hard right flush on the man's chin.

The heckler rushed out quickly without leaving his name.
